Generation 1

1. ANDREW<sup>1</sup> HEPBURN was born about 1755 in Aird, Riccarton Parish, Ayrshire, Scotland. He married ELESABETH BAIRD on 23 Feb 1777 in New Cumnock, Ayrshire, Scotland. She was born about 1759 in Galston, Ayrshire, Scotland.

Andrew Hepburn and Elesabeth Baird had the following children:

- i. MARY<sup>2</sup> HEPBURN was born on 04 Dec 1777.

- iv. ELIZABETH HEPBURN was born on 31 Oct 1786.

Hepburn and Elizabeth Baird, spouses in Netherlands, baptised the 6th current"

- vi. GEORGE HEPBURN was born in 1808 in Edinburgh, Midlothian,

Scotland. Notes for George Hepburn:

George has been recorded by a number of researchers on Ancestry.com as a son of Andrew and Elizabeth. Direct evidence has not been found in parish records and it is doubtful that Elizabeth would have a child at the age of 50.

Generation 2

2. JOHN<sup>2</sup> HEPBURN (Andrew<sup>1</sup>) was born on 28 Jul 1781 in Aird, Riccarton Parish, Ayrshire, Scotland. He died before 1841 in Lanark, Scotland. He married CHRISTIAN DOUGHTY in 1809. She was born about 1790.

Notes for John Hepburn:

Family Tree Notes by J.T. Hepburn - 1962

"The first name on the Hepburn list, and the oldest known to the writer (J.T.O.H.) by hearsay. He was in the British Army, in the Scots Grey Cavalry Regiment at the Battle of Waterloo, in 1815, and later lived at Lanark, Scotland, where he was employed at the Lanark courthouse, possibly as Sheriff, and the Lanark Police Department. Details are vague but a relative, David Hepburn, possibly a brother of John, was also known to be there. The writer's grandfather, James Hepburn of Biggar told me that his father, the above John, was born in 1781 at Galston in Ayershire, and was descended from the 4th Earl of Bothwell, but details of the immediate ancestors are missing."

Research by D.E.Williams

The Galston OPR reads:

"John, lawful son to Andrew Hebron at Aird born on Saturday 28th July 1781 about 4 o'clock forenoon baptised 29th July"

The Galston reference in grandfather Hepburn's notes were to the parish where the birth was registered not to the town of Galston. John was probably born at Aird Farm in Riccarton parish (near the Carnell Estate in Ayrshire) but the registration was done in Galston parish.

John's discharge papers from the 2nd Dragoons or as they were more commonly known, the Royal Scots Greys, indicate that he served from the 2nd day of December 1803 until 13 August 1817 (ref: WO 97/63/113). He was discharged as unfit for duty due to a rupture and an injured back. The papers indicate that John had enlisted at age 22, which is consistent with the birthdate that we have. He was shown to be 5' 11" tall, had brown hair and hazel eyes.

John Hepburn became an Officer of the Burgh of Lanark in 1830 and was also assigned duties as the jailer. He continued in this role until about 1836 with the exception of a brief period in 1833 when he was fired for letting a prisoner escape. It is believed that he went on to become the Chief Warden or Governor at the new Lanark Prison built in 1835. Various artefacts that belonged to John can be found in Lanark and Biggar area museums, such as a grandfather clock that was made at the prison and remained with the family for many years.

Notes for Christian Doughty:

OPR birth records were found for three children, Mary, Thomas Gillespie, and Andrew Balfour, that show the mother's name as Christian Doughtie.

Andrew was born in Linlithgow, West Lothian, while the other two children were born at Lanark. James Hepburn's 1897 death registration spells the name Doughty.

Since John and Christian married in 1809 and the regiment was stationed in Dublin, Ireland at the time, we could assume that Christian was Irish.

John Hepburn and Christian Doughty had the following children:

3. i. JOHN<sup>3</sup> HEPBURN was born about 1813.
4. ii. JAMES HEPBURN was born on 29 Aug 1811 in Manchester, England. He died on 03 Nov 1897 in Biggar, 9am at Brier Cottage. He married JANE PENNIE, daughter of John Pennie and Jane Brown. She was born in 1815 in Liberton, Lanark. She died on 19 Jan 1887 in Biggar, Lanarkshire, Scotland.
5. iii. ANDREW BALFOUR HEPBURN was born on 28 Dec 1815 in Linlithgow, West Lothian, Scotland. He died in 1885. He married ELIZABETH BURNSIDE on 01 Nov 1835 in Lanark, Lanark, Scotland. She was born about 1811.
6. iv. CHRISTINA HEPBURN was born in 1826 in Lanark, Lanark, Scotland. She died on 05 Jan 1894 in Davie St., Edinburgh, Midlothian, Scotland. She married ALEXANDER PRESTON on 04 Jun 1847 in St.Cuthberts Parish Church, Edinburgh, Scotland, son of James Preston and Margaret Isaac. He was born on 08 Dec 1826 in Edinburgh, Midlothian, Scotland. He died in 1871 in Edinburgh, Midlothian, Scotland.
- v. THOMAS GILLESPIE HEPBURN was born on 12 Jan 1829.
- vi. MARY HEPBURN was born on 07 Apr 1830 in Lanark, Lanark, Scotland. She married THOMAS STRANGE on 28 Aug 1849 in Leith, Midlothian, Scotland.

Generation 2 (con't)

Notes for Mary Hepburn:

Mary was born 7 April 1830 at Lanark per OPR data GROS Reg: 648/00 0006. One of the Hepburn girls is said (by JTOH) to have emigrated to New Zealand, perhaps along with brother John, while another was to marry a Mr. Storey from Greenock. It seems as if we might be short of one female child in the family.

He married JANE PENNIE, daughter of John Pennie and Jane Brown. She was born in 1815 in Liberton, Lanark. She died on 19 Jan 1887 in Biggar, Lanarkshire, Scotland.

Notes for James Hepburn:

Family Tree Notes by J.T. Hepburn - 1962

"Born in 1811, at Lanark, was the owner of a bakery business at Biggar in the wide main street, opposite the Town Hall. Besides local trade at the Main Street shop, he had a contract for several years to supply bread to the Caledonian Railway Company's workers, who were building the railway through Southern Lanarkshire, to Biggar, Peebles and Dumfries. Later he had a contract for many years with the railway company to distribute freight to the district of Biggar and the surrounding farms, employing a trucker or two and kept horses and wagons (called lorries) for the work. He had an office in his house on the West Back Road, Biggar, with a large garden between the shop's extended bakery buildings and the dwelling house, also further west on the same property, barns, stables, steam engine room (for driving machinery) hay stacks and acreage for crops extending half a mile to the Biggar and Carnwath Road. He also rented land for growing crops, mostly oats and wheat, for his livestock, including horses, milk cows, pigs, turkeys, chickens, pigeons, cats and a dog called "Yarrow". He had sold the bakery business to a Mr. Johnstone when he started the freight contract. Grandpa was also for many years, the chief Commissioner for Biggar (which in Scotland was the equivalent of being Mayor and elected as in English towns). He superintended, while Commissioner, the work of building a water reservoir and water pipes for a modern supply of gravitation water to each householder in the town, from the hills in the east. Previously the only water supply was from wells, some of them in the middle of the village street. He was defeated in an election for spending too much money on the new Biggar water system and for arguing too strongly with his opponents, for which he was called "Auld Hayburon", with an emphasis on the R. James Hepburn of Biggar died in 1897 and was buried at the churchyard, in front of the old Biggar Parish Church. The writer (then 22) was at the funeral, having travelled from Greenock where he was employed at the time as a draughtsman at the Caird & Company's shipyard."

James was actually born in Manchester, England according to the 1851 Census. This is consistent with the fact that his father's regiment, the Royal Scots Greys cavalry, had transferred to Lancashire, England from Dublin 1810. The family did end up in Lanark after his father was discharged in 1817. The regiment had just returned to Scotland in June of that year after spending time in France (Waterloo, 1815) and Coventry.

The Census for 1841 has James located in Biggar

No relationship has been established for Christina above but she might be a sister. John Johnston may be the one who bought the business in later years.

Notes for John Hepburn:

Family Tree Notes by J.T. Hepburn - (a nephew) written in 1962

"John Hepburn (grandson and 2nd generation from the veteran of Waterloo) was born at Biggar in 1838 and was trained as a baker in the Hepburn Bakery but he had to give up that work owing to illness caused by the flour dust which developed into chronic hay fever. Later he moved to Glasgow and became a partner in a wholesale dry-goods firm in the city called Scobie & Co. and travelled much around the towns of Scotland selling drapery ware for his company. He was an elder for many years in the Glasgow Cathedral of the Church of Scotland on Cathedral St. in Glasgow. He married Jane Symington of Drymore in Dumbartonshire whose father owned the hotel there and they had a family of five (four boys and one girl) all born at 18 Melville St. Pollockshields, Glasgow, a suburb on the southwest side of the city. Uncle John died in Glasgow in 1916, seven years after the writer came to Canada and his widow moved to Biggar and later to Kerse Lesmahegow where she died in 1926 in the house of her daughter, the Gilchrist's."

There are some discrepancies in the information that J.T. Hepburn collected. According to the

Notes for James Hepburn:

Family Tree Notes by J.T. Hepburn - 1962

"James Hepburn, (the writers father) was born at Biggar in 1842, educated at a Biggar school and served an apprenticeship as a salesman in a dry-goods store in Biggar. Next door to this store was a hardware shop run by a Mr. Gladstone, a second cousin of the William Edward Gladstone who later was the Prime Minister of England in London. James Hepburn later worked at the same trade in Lesmahagow and Glasgow. In Glasgow he was with a large company in Argyle St. named Mann, Buyers & Co. Ltd. For several years (which is still flourishing) and in a neighbouring office met a William Crawford Jr. of Lochwinnoch. He was invited to visit the Crawford family there quite a few times who were the owners of the Crawford Wool Mills of Lochwinnoch and was later engaged to be married to Jessie Crawford (sister of William Crawford Jr.) whom he married at Lochwinnoch in 1871. They lived in Biggar near the Hepburn's shop and my sister Agnes and I were born there. We went to Biggar schools until I was ten and Addie was 13, then we moved to Crosshill, Glasgow in 1885, a suburb near the lovely Queen's Park. We had a flat at 20 Dixon Avenue, off Victoria road, then moved to 10 Carrington St., at the west end of the city (off Great Western Rd.) in 1887 to be near a grain store my father had opened in St. George Rd. near St. George Cross, which was carried on until he died in 1894, when 51 years of age. Then mother and sister moved to the old Crawford house at Lochwinnoch which had been left to her on Grandma Crawford's death in 1891. James Hepburn was buried at the old Lochwinnoch graveyard at the foot of Johnshill Road, beside the ruins of the ancient church of the village, a relic of reformation days."

Notes for Jessie Brodie Crawford:

Family Tree Notes by J.T. Hepburn - 1962

"Jessie Brodie Hepburn (nee Crawford) the wife of James Hepburn of Biggar and Glasgow, was born at Lochwinnoch in 1849. Her mother, William Crawford's second wife, Agnes Orr of Kaim, and the younger of two of a Crawford family. William Crawford Jr., her brother had died unmarried in 1880 and Jessie had married James Hepburn at Lochwinnoch when 22 years old in 1871. After the death of her husband in Glasgow in 1894 the grain business was sold and she moved with daughter Addie to the Crawford house at Lochwinnoch and twenty-two years later, the old house of eight rooms was sold to the Lochwinnoch Gas Co. and they moved to a cottage at Johnshill which belonged to a cousin, an Orr of Kaim, (later to the Dickie family) and my mother died there in 1941.

My mother's father, William Crawford, had one daughter from his first marriage, namely Mary Crawford, who married a Mr Wright of Manchester who had been a clerk in the wool mill of the Crawford's at Lochwinnoch. After the wedding they moved to Manchester when my mother was a girl and their descendants are mostly there yet. We have lost touch with them principally because Crawford property and belongings was left to my mother."

Jessie died at Lochwinnoch in 1941.

James Hepburn and Jessie Brodie Crawford had the following children:

Notes for Josephine Lois Cook:

Hepburn, Josephine Lois

HEPBURN, Josephine Lois Born on September 25, 1918 in Victoria, B.C., passed away on December 23 with family at her side. Josephine attended school in Victoria, finishing her studies at St. Ann's Academy Secretarial School. She then worked in the office of David Spencer's Ltd. before her marriage to Nelson Smith Hepburn also of Victoria. Jo and Nelson and expanding family moved several times between Victoria and Vancouver in pursuit of Nelson's education and career as a Professional Engineer. Each move saw a few more finds from a new antique store and all her favourite flowers planted in the garden. Finally they settled on SW Marine Drive in Vancouver with a lovely large garden where she could plant vines and shrubs and trees and watch them mature. At this time Van Dusen Botanical Gardens was just starting, Josephine was one of the first volunteers in the guiding program and became a mentor to many over the years. She was also an active member of Engineers Wives in both Victoria and in Vancouver. In 1982, Jo and Nelson retired to Denman Island and a very large garden which she tamed and expanded. She also became actively involved in the Island's gardening community, sharing her knowledge for the next 20 years. In 2002
