Notes for Sarah Ann Tweedy:

General Notes:

Sarah Ann Tweedy had come to Canada as an orphan in 1833 with several uncles, aunts and cousins - all Tweedys. Her youngest brother, James, came later with their aunt, Mrs. Doherty, and her husband. Sara Ann made her home with her uncle, Charles Tweedy, and his family, who had settled in Leeds County near Lombardy. The Anglican Church in Lombardy was built on their farm. The Wood family was Presbyterian, but since there was no church of that denomination at Lombardy, they attended the Anglican Church and there they met the Tweedys. Sarah Ann Tweedy lived to be 87 years of age and was known as a mid-wife in that area.

The Tweedies were from Perthshire, Scotland. The Tweedy family in Peebleshire was originally from Stenhouse in Lanarkshire. These two shires border each other. The origins of the family may be from Finlay de Twedyn del Comte de Lanark who in the year 1296 swore fealty to Edward the First of England. His son Rodger settled in Drumelzur on the Tweed near the town of WILLS - Following a general breaking up of the system, Mrs Patric Wills of Rideau Ferry, passed away on Tuesday, Sept. 19th, and in her death this district loses still another of its pioneer citizens. Eighty-four years ago Mary Anne Wood was born in the township of Elmsley, a daughter of the late James Wood, and she lived in the same section all her life. Her husband predeceased her. The late Mrs. wills was a woman of very fine character, a good neighbor, a warm friend, and as such will be sorely missed by all who knew her. She was a member of the Brethren. She leaves to morn her loss four sons, William, Edward and Albert of Vanguard, Sask., and John the Homestead in Elmsley, and two daughters, Mrs. Peter King and Mrs. John King, of Rideau Ferry. Two brothers also survive, John Wood and James Wood of Perth. The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 23rd, from the home of Mrs. John King, Rideau Ferry, to Rideau Ferry Cemetery. Mr. Chas. Warwicker, of Ottawa conducted the services.

Notes for James Wood:

General Notes:

In the 1880s James set up a brickmaking works by Bass Lake. He himself built a number of brick buildings, which are still in use. The first, in 1882, was a farmhouse for himself and his wife Ann Wills, built as soon as the road (now the Old Kingston Road) was opened. Previously, he and his family had lived on the shore of the Rideau Lake, the lake being the only practical highway. Other of James Wood's brick buildings included the Rideau Antiques farmhouse - built as a home for Jack Joynt - and the Brethren gospel meeting hall next to the Wood farm. (James and Robert Wood, originally Methodist, were among the earliest adherents of the Brethren when this worship was introduced in South Elmsley in the 1880's.) James' son George later acquired the farm. The spot from which James Wood extracted the brick clay is a pond now, still part of the Wood property, and the house James built is still the family home. James Wood sold parts of his farm as cottage lots during the 1890's and early 1900's, for Rideau Lake lots were in much demand for summer homes.
